» Love this workout gear!

My new favourite discovery is the RKR Sport clothing line which carries premium workout clothing, at affordable prices.

Their couture leisure and lounge-wear brand has been developed over the last 2 years and is considered as the best looking and hardest-wearing casual clothing known to women.

The cut of RKR's jogging bottoms ensure that they will flatter your shape (and bum!) while creating a perfectly streamlined silhouette. The lightweight fabric guarantees comfort with its high cotton content and elastane to keep them from sagging and losing shape.

I love mine, great for yoga as it's really comfortable to move around in and doesn't fall off when you are upside down in dog. It's nice enough to wear walking to the gym too, you don't have to keep it for inside the sports hall only.

There are a variety of fabulous colours and styles available and since the line is only sold online, you can skip the added fee from sports boutiques and have it shipped right to your front door!

Prices start from £47 for a running top, and from £37 for cropped pants.
